

Updated: 2/8/12

Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design: For Schools
April 24, 2012, 8:30 AM – 12:30 PM

"The proper design and effective use of the built environment can lead to a reduction in the incidence and fear of crime and an improvement in the quality of life." Timothy Crowe

This 4 hour training will be presented in two segments. The first two hours will be exploring the general concepts and strategies of CPTED. The second two hour block will examine applying the principles to schools and conducting a school safety & security assessment based upon the principles of CPTED.

In this training you will learn the principles of:

Natural Surveillance
Territorial Reinforcement
Natural, Mechanical and Organized Access Control
The 3 "D's" Design, Designation, Definition
Form vs Function
Ideas for conducting a site security assessment

Audience: School Security & Resource Officers, Maintenance and Operations personnel, Administrators, and other personnel responsible for safety & security in schools.

Trainer Bio:

Randal Town M.Ed.
Washington State Criminal Justice Training Commission
Educational Service District 105

For the past twenty three years Randy has worked in the area of school crisis management and safety. He provides crisis management, school safety training which includes site safety assessments built upon the principals of Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design. In addition he provides technical assistance and related crisis response services for 25 public school districts within the ESD 105 region & across the state; he has traveled nationally and internationally providing crisis management training for interested school districts, he developed the "Regional Crisis Response Team" in conjunction with all public schools within ESD 105. He is the co-developer, and co-author of Quick Response, A Step-By-Step Guide to Crisis Management for Principals, Counselors and Teachers, published by The Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development. Randy is currently a 17 year veteran of the Yakima County Sheriff's Office as a Reserve Deputy and holds the rank of Sergeant. Randy has received basic and advanced CPTED training from national renowned experts Timothy Crowe and Art Hushen; in addition Randy has conducted assessments of schools and colleges around the State of Washington.

Training Location: Washington State Criminal Justice Training Commission
19010 1st Ave South Burien, WA 98148

Date & Time: April 24, 2012, RM C-101 from 0830 to 1230 hrs. Class limit: 25

Cost: None

Registration: Email Randy Town with your name, email, phone number, school district or agency, and your position;
randy.town@esd105.org

Questions: Contact, Randy Town at 509-454-5313 or by email; randy.town@esd105.org